ITALIAN-BASED RAF BOMBERS RAID BULGARIA

Rail Center of Plovdiv Hammered as Follow-Up to Blows from England.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, April 20—RAF Italian-based bombers raided the railway center of Plovdiv, Bulgaria today in a continuation of the powerful allied offensive in which some 6,000 planes loosed thousands of explosives on Hitler's Europe in the 36-hour period ended last night.

Crewmen returning to their Italian bases from the daylight strike said bomb flashes spotted the target area in Plovdiv, which lies 20 miles southeast of Sofia and is an important point in the rail network of southeastern Europe.

Britain-based bombers were in action last night after the unprovoked assault on Germany yesterday, but Nazi fighters struck at England for the second consecutive night and tossed bombs along the southern coast.

A communiqué said only slight damage and a small number of casualties, none of which were serious, had been reported. One Nazi plane was shot down.

The alert lasted about a half hour in London, which had been the target of a sharp attack the night before, but no bombs fell in the city.

There also were no indications of any large scale British based operations over the continent this morning.

Explosions Rock Coast
Mysterious explosions on the French coast again shook English coastal towns in the Dover strait area for 40 minutes after midnight.

A Vichy broadcast said 750 persons now were known to have been killed in the Paris area and 1,200 killed and more than 2,000 injured in Rouen and its vicinity during raids Tuesday night.

A noon broadcast said the center of Rouen was in ashes with the fires not yet completely under control.

A Paris broadcast, which raised estimates on the dead at Rouen to 2,000, said time bombs were hampering rescue work.

Only $407 To Go in Red Cross Drive

The Red Cross War Fund drive needed only a $407.76 boost today to put it over the $50,000 goal.

Chairman J. D. Torrance, pleased by the public response so far in the "give again" campaign, said he felt confident the amount still needed could be raised by tomorrow night if this continue to come in at the rate maintained in the last few days.

Crestline Soldier and Comrade Nab Nazi Parachutist

A Crestline soldier, Sgt. Harbert Eckstein, was going his regular rounds to deliver some documents last night when he and another soldier captured a German parachutist on English soil.

According to an Associated Press dispatch dated today, Eckstein and Pvt. Ralph Zimmerman of Plainville, Conn., were going cross-country to deliver the documents when they met the German as they were driving down a road.

The capture was one of two such incidents reported after a German air raid over England. Another Ohioan, Cpl. Robert Mesch of Jefferson county, figured in the other capture, which was made when he and others were bounding their military police post.

Eckstein is the son of George Eckstein and the late Mrs. Eckstein of Crestline. Before entering the Army in January last year he was employed at his father's grocery store in Crestline. Sgt. Eckstein is living in Gallien. The sergeant's last visit home was on a 10-day furlough Dec. 13, last year. He has been overseas two months.

20 INJURED ON FERRY

BALTIMORE, April 20—Twenty persons were injured, several seriously, when a small inland freighter rammed a crowded boat in fog-bound Baltimore harbor today.

Marion Flier In 17 Raids on Japs

Capt. John Cephas Dodd, above, of the U. S. Marine Corps has completed 17 combat missions into enemy territory, according to word received here from the Marine Corps headquarters. Capt. Dodd is the son of Mrs. Elsie Dodd of 367 Franklin street.

A graduate of Harding High school, Capt. Dodd attended Washington and Jefferson college in Washington, Pa., and graduated from the University of Idaho in 1932. Prior to his enlistment he was a law student at George Washington university, Washington, D. C., and at the same time worked for the American Automobile association. He has been in the service for three years, receiving his wings at Miami, Fla.

For several weeks at the end of 1942 he was based on a carrier at Hawaii and from there went into the South Pacific where he has been for more than a year. In April he started on his third combat tour which will last until August, at which time he expects to be sent back to the United States.

ARMY CLEARED OF LOSS BLAME

Stimson Says Error Shootings Understandable When Reasons Are Considered.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 20—Secretary of War Stimson today said a nine-month delay in announcing the accidental shooting down of a second group of American planes in Sicily "is understandable when you consider the unpredictable reasons" which led to the loss.

Simultaneously, Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information (OWI), told reporters he was satisfied the war department had not deliberately attempted to suppress the news that half of the 10 planes and 44 occupants lost at Catania, Sicily, last July 13-14, had been downed by "friendly" fire.

A couple of days earlier, July 11, another 23 American transports were shot down off Gela, Sicily, with a loss of 410 men when they flew into the range of enemy and Allied fire in the wake of enemy planes.

When Stimson was asked at a press conference why a public announcement of the Catania affair incident became known, he replied:

"To say that the Army will tolerate blundering, or endeavor to cover it up, is simply not true. I am confident that the public will not over-emphasize what, in truth, are unavoidable incidents of all wars."

British in Command
The cabinet official explained that all operations in the vicinity of Catania were under British command and it is not our custom to report their operations, any more than it would be for them to report ours.

"The delay in announcing these losses in both victorious operations is understandable when you consider the unpredictable reasons which lead up to them. A dozen different reasons contributed to the losses, ranging all the way from unexpected enemy action during the hazards of the complicated air, sea, and ground operation at night, to the tense, tense of thousands of men under enemy fire for the first time."

At a separate press conference, OWI Director Davis said:

"We can not say that every instance where men have been shot down by our men has been reported, but we hope that everything of sufficient relative consequence to be news has now been told."

Davis said the lengthy delay did not mean any change in the war news policy announced last Sunday under which theater commanders were to report only the most important news.

BLACK MARKET THREATENS U.S. GAS SUPPLY

OPA Officials Say Illegal Traffic Consumes 2,500,000 Gallons Daily.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 20—"Hot" coupons are threatening the nation's civilian gasoline supply. Shad Poller, director of gasoline rationing enforcement for the office of price administration, estimates 2,500,000 gallons daily are being traded by "black market" operators and that if the black market is "allowed to grow, it will become a serious threat to the whole war effort." Chief trade is in "C" coupons, at 50 cents each.

Overall

A bi-partisan group of senators joined today in demanding that overall, the traditional uniform of America's farmers and industrial workers, shall not vanish from the earth. Many legislators have been receiving complaints that work clothes no longer are available in sufficient numbers. The situation is so bad, says Senator Butler (R-Veb.) farmers "have to wear their dress clothes while they do their work."

Lend-Lease

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) of the senate appropriations committee promises an early public report on the committee's investigation of lend-lease expenditures. Senate approval of extension of the program is virtually assured. The house yesterday voted extension by 334 to 21.

Coal

Approximately 70 per cent of the soft coal operators are expected to accept a new labor board decision to pay miners an agreed $40 per man as back pay for underground travel time. The remainder of the industry, represented by the Southern Operators association, have taken the underground travel issue to court.

Congressional investigators today called on the administration to seek the cooperation of American oil interests in its efforts to guarantee post-war supply of gasoline and fuel oil for the nation.

Chairman Maloney (D-Conn.) of the senate's petroleum policy committee told reporters the "grave and far-reaching" effect of oil on the future security called for "candid and open-minded cooperation" of government and industry.

Public hearings are scheduled to open early in May when Interior Secretary Harold I. Ickes will tell his story of the need for a 1,250-mile Saudi-Arabian pipeline.

Club Co-Ed Open To Public Tonight

Final plans for public inspection of Club Co-Ed rooms tonight were made last night when the members of the Y's Men's Service club and their wives held a potluck supper at the club. Approximately 70 were there for the supper and later about 30 other sponsors inspected the rooms.

A short business meeting was held last night with Don Williamson, president and members were complimented on the work and cooperation given by all. John Wadell, one of the committee in charge of the dinner, and Bill Lusa, chairman of the project, spoke briefly.

Pfc. Wilson Sends Family Purple Heart

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wilson of North Prospect street have received the Purple Heart awarded to their son Pfc. Donald R. "Dick" Wilson for wounds received early in March on the Anzio beachhead. His wounds are not considered serious.

An account of the circumstances leading to the award was published in the Star on March 13 when the family was notified. Pfc. Wilson is with the paratroopers. A brother, Lt. G. R. Wilson is stationed at Ft. George Meade, Md.

Rep. Smith Votes Against Lend-Lease Extension

By The Associated Press

AIR BLOWS SAP FOE'S POWER

Stimson Says Nazi Strength To Resist Declines as Attacks Increase.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 20—Secretary of War Stimson today said "our aerial invasion of Germany is continuing," the pressure is increasing and enemy resistance on the whole is decreasing.

He thus summarized the European aerial offensive in a press conference during which he also stressed the heavy blows by allied aviation against Japan in the Pacific and in southeast Asia.

Discussing the effectiveness of the big-scale raids on German fighter plane factories, Stimson said the enemy's production of this type of plane had fallen off an estimated 20 per cent since January.

The enemy's reserve of planes therefore will not come easily, Stimson said, but he cautioned that "critical periods" are ahead in the air war.

The secretary said Allied air operations from Italy have reached (Turn to AIR RAIDS, Page 11)

NEW BUILDING UNDER WAY AT ARMY DEPOT

Boxing and Processing Factory To Employ 150.

Construction work is progressing rapidly on a new boxing and processing building at the Marion Engineer Depot.

Upward of 150 persons will be employed in the new building in operations that will include producing, painting, lubricating, washing, boxing and crating. The building, equipped with the latest type tools and handling devices for efficient operations, is scheduled for completion around July 1.

Ground was broken for another depot project last Monday when work was begun on a new building to house office activities in connection with field operations. When it is completed, it will make possible a consolidation of offices formerly located in warehouses.

General activities of the depot were reported moving along at a fast pace, resulting in a lively demand for additional skilled mechanics and other types of workers.

New military personnel at the depot includes Major W. P. Davernport and Lieut. Robert A. Barrier, both from the Columbus Army Service Forces Depot.

BRICKER ENDS TOUR OF WESTERN STATES

By The Associated Press
PHOENIX, Ariz., April 20—Gov. Bricker of Ohio concluded his 10-day campaign tour of the west here yesterday with a luncheon speech in which he said the Republicans must win this fall "in order to save the Democratic party."

"The Democrats," said the candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, "don't have any more voice in our government than the Republicans."

He was scheduled to leave by private plane today for Columbus after spending the night as a guest of Paul W. Litchfield, board chairman of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company.

"When we have freed the world from autocracy, then we will free the United States from needless and costly bureaucracy," the governor said.

Attorneys, he added, "now practice law from lawless lands because they don't know from law and to the next what new regulations have been imposed."

He said one business man told him he had filed 70,000 government reports since beginning of the war.

NAZI ATTACKS FROM POLAND BEATEN BACK

Large Scale German Assault Repulsed, Moscow Bulletin Reports.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 20—Large scale German tank and infantry attacks have been beaten back in the southeast corner of old Poland after fierce, seesaw fighting. Moscow announced today in a communique which also told of the capture of Russian shock troops of Fedukhinsky Heights, formidable barrier guarding the approaches to besieged Sevastopol.

The Nazis, apparently in an effort to save their big communications center of Lwow, launched the heavy counterblows east of Stanislawow, 70 miles southeast of the base, and "some populated places changed hands" before the assaults were repulsed.

Report Hungarian Victory

A German communique yesterday said a Hungarian force had captured Nadworna, 21 miles southwest of Stanislawow.

The Soviet bulletin said a large force of German bombers and fighters appeared during the battle, supporting an earlier Moscow news dispatch which described the Nazi offensive as "apparently strong, well-coordinated and systematic." The Russians said 13 enemy planes were downed in that area during the day.

While the German attacks seemed primarily designed to save Lwow, 45 miles west of the near Russian forces, the offensive also could be an attempt to keep the Red army from driving through the Czechoslovak frontier passes they reached April 8.

Lwow was bombed heavily by the Russians Wednesday night. Besides taking Fedukhinsky Heights, about five miles from the center of Sevastopol, and over the Chornaya river valley, the Russians outflanked the hill of Sakharova Galovka, covering the entry to the Inkerman valley.

Sevastopol Under Siege

Except for these advances, the battle for Sevastopol appeared to be developing into a siege, the bulletin reporting that the enemy, "pressed back to the sea, was putting up stubborn resistance."

The Germans counter-attacked in the area of the Sevastopol-Simferopol highway, but were thrown back to their initial positions and many prisoners were taken, the Russians said.

The communique added that Russian warships and planes continued to smash up German evacuation attempts.

On the Bessarabian front, the Russians said they enlarged their bridgeheads on the west bank of the Dniestr in the Chisinau area, taking several localities and killing 300 axis troops.

Nazi Chiefs Call on Germans To Remain Loyal to Hitler

Praise Poured Out on His Fifty-Fifth Birthday Anniversary But Fuehrer Keeps Silent.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 20—Top-ranking Nazi leaders vied in praising Adolf Hitler on his 55th birthday anniversary today and urged the German people to give him steady loyalty in this period when "the war situation has become difficult and tense."

Hitler himself was silent. The burden of the anniversary exhortations fell to Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Dr. Otto Dietrich, Nazi press chief.

A Berlin broadcast directed outside Germany declared all these statements were fundamentally the same—calling for unity behind "the greatness of the Fuehrer."

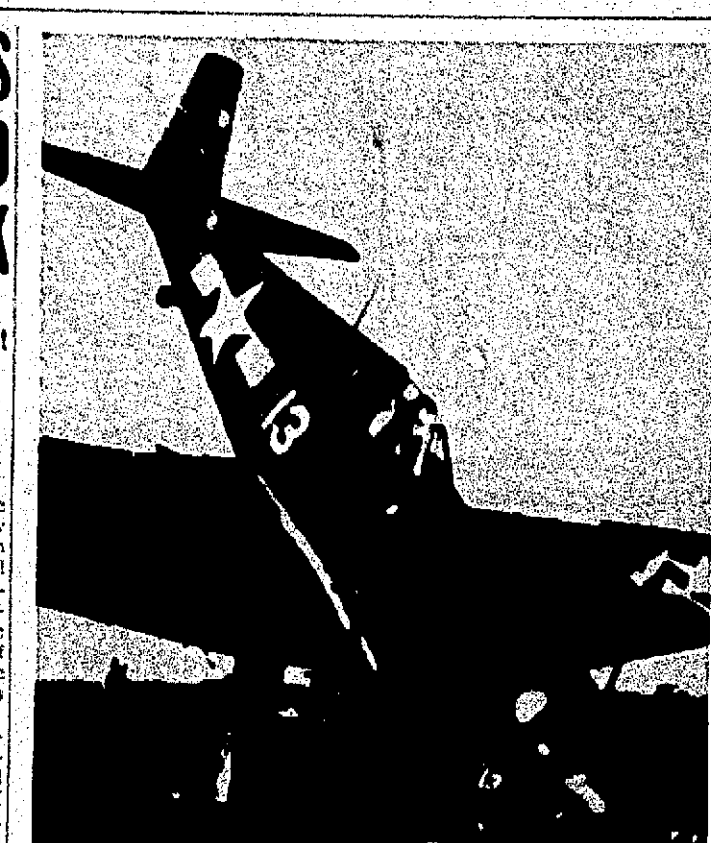

All admitted the Germans face impending trial. "A thousand dangers may lie ahead," said Goering.

Presumably trying to gloss over Germany's past and future war disasters, Goebbels declared:

"Even the greatest leaders of history will be faced with occasional setbacks and defeats. It is on these occasions that leaders can prove their true mettle."

Hitler urged on Model Dietrich, according to Goebbels, "be a model and example to every German, for he was sent by destiny to satisfy the longing of the German people for a unified state, firmly in hand and destined to stand in face of death dangers that threaten their lives."

Goebbels' speech was broadcast in German radio from Berlin. He was accompanied by Dr. Otto Dietrich, Nazi press chief.

2 Get Stiff Penalties for Looting Piggy Bank

Theft of a china piggy bank resulted in the arrest yesterday of Robert A. Milligan, 21, of 168 Plymouth street and Harold J. Smith, 18, of 403 Uncaffer avenue, according to police reports.

Willard Blanton of 403 Uncaffer avenue reported to police Tuesday night the china pig containing $32 in half dollars had been stolen from the rear seat of his locked car, parked on Oak near Center street. He told police that he suspected his stepson, Harold Smith.

About an hour later, the two young men were picked up on West Center and when questioned told where they had hid the bank, police said. It was found buried at the rear of Western Union office on West Center street. The two were arrested on a charge of petty larceny. The amount recovered totaled $29.50.

Both pleaded guilty in municipal court and were fined $100 and costs and given 30 days in the Columbus workhouse. County officials took them to Columbus yesterday afternoon.

STRONG FORCE WITH CARRIERS BLASTS BASE

First Blow by Sea and Air Struck Against Dutch East Indies Islands.

By The Associated Press

SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, KANDY, Ceylon, April 20—A powerful allied fleet of aircraft carriers, battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines at dawn yesterday struck the first air-sea blow against Japanese-held Dutch East Indies since the fall of the islands in March, 1942.

The attack was made just four days after Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten had shifted his operational headquarters to Ceylon from New Delhi.

Allied bombers and fighters took off from the carriers somewhere in the Indian ocean and carried out a surprise raid on Sabang and Lhonga airfields in northern Sumatra.

(The admiralty announced in London that Sabang also was bombed by the warships.)

Off Tip of Sumatra

Sabang is a little island just off the northeastern tip of Sumatra less than 1,000 miles from Mountbatten's Ceylon headquarters and has an important harbor which the Japanese have been using for test operations toward the west. Lhonga is a few miles away on the mainland tip.

With the expedition directed by Adm. Sir James Somerville, commander-in-chief of the British eastern fleet, the aircraft scored numerous direct hits with heavy bombs on the dock yard, power station, wharf, barracks, hangars, workshops and radio station at Sabang, on the northern tip of Sumatra, leaving large fires blazing in the afternoon.

The aircraft also scored hits on two Japanese merchant ships, each of 4,000 to 5,000 tons, while two enemy destroyer escort vessels were shot up and set afire. Twenty-two Japanese planes, including six large transports, were destroyed around at Sabang.

Several Japanese planes also were destroyed on the Lhonga airfield.

One allied plane was forced to land at Sabang but the pilot was dramatically saved by a submarine which rescued him under shore battery fire. All other planes returned to the carriers.

Despite intense light caliber anti-aircraft fire, the allied bombers registered a direct hit on an oil tank at Sabang with a 1,000-pound bomb, starting a fierce fire from which smoke rose to 7,000 feet.

3 Jap Planes Shot Down

Fighters which escorted the bombers shot down three Japanese torpedo bombers which approached the fleet after the raid.

Yesterday's attack was viewed in London as only a prelude to further heavy blows to be directed against the enemy's Asian bases.

The fleet action also recalled Prime Minister Churchill's recent declaration that the Far Eastern fleet now has reached mighty proportions, with the addition of powerful units including battleships and aircraft carriers.

British Break Jap Road Blocks in India

By The Associated Press
The Japanese invasion into India suffered another major setback today when British troops smashed through road blocks to contact allied forces of Kohima, Indian base 20 miles south of the important Imphal-Annam railroad. Tank-patrols British and Indian troops continue their counter-offensive northward from Imphal, 60 miles south of Kohima.

Southwest and central Pacific planes loomed up for air blows on the 2,000-mile string of Caroline islands, hitting such targets as Pagan, Truk, Saipan, Palau and the Marianas. Other planes bombarded the Japanese in the far southern portion of Dutch New Guinea and Guadalcanal. Four of seven in the Marianas were shot down.

CANDIDATES BACKED BY CIO COMMITTEE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 20.—The Ohio's CIO's political action committee today announced endorsement of Mayor Frank C. Lausche for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the May 3 primary, but made no mention of any candidate on the Republican ticket.

Martin C. Harrison of Cleveland and William G. Pickrel of Dayton each was endorsed for the nomination in the Democratic senatorial race. Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, the Republican incumbent, has no opposition.

The committee, George De Nucci, its secretary-treasurer, reported, said Lausche was a man "of outstanding ability" and "has always indicated a deep compassion for the problems of common folk, and a keen and sympathetic awareness of social and economic issues."

Of the senatorial candidates, the committee said of Harrison and Pickrel:

"Two equally fine candidates, either one of whom would make a splendid United States senator. We recommend them both as preeminently qualified men. Follow your own judgment on these candidates and whatever your choice, you can't go wrong."

Other endorsements: Reed M. Wingardner of Washington C. H., Democrat.

Secretary of State: A. Lee Fair, Democrat of Holmes county, and Edward J. Hummel of Cincinnati, Republican incumbent.

State auditor: Ed Day of Akron and Joseph T. Ferguson of Barberton, both Democrats.

Congressmen (Democrat in each instance): First district, Frank J. Richter; Second, J. Harry Moore; Third, Robert W. Worsh; Sixth, John W. Bush; Seventh, John L. Crabin; Eighth, Roy W. Roof; Ninth, John F. Hunter; 12th, Forrest F. Smith; 15th, Olney R. Gillogy; 16th, William R. Thom; 17th, Thomas R. Wilson; 18th, Ross Michener; 19th, Michael J. Kirwan; 20th, Michael A. Feighan; 21st, Robert Crosser.

Jack Kroll, president of the Ohio CIO and regional director of the National CIO Political Action committee, was endorsed for delegate to the national Democratic convention.

Baseball Workout

Afternoon baseball workouts yesterday brought 13 prospective players for the Marion team. Grover Hartley, manager said today. Two new men, one from Chicago and one from Portsmouth also tried out. Work on the ball field at Lincoln park will start today. Plans call for grading the infield. Outfield sections of the park are still too damp to be graded, Hartley said. Water was standing in right and left field this morning but hopes were set on the possibility of grading these sections in the next few days if rain should hold off.

The Marion Baseball club members met last night to discuss further plans for the season.

Prevue

ALL comparisons for the record-breaking transcontinental flight of the mammoth transport plane from Burbank, Calif., to Washington in six hours and 58 minutes are hackneyed. It no longer stirs the imagination to be reminded that it once took months to cover the same distance by wagon and still took several days by train; or that the wing span of the Lockheed Constellation is slightly longer than the original flight of the Wright brothers. Such things are only for the unsophisticated.

Expectation now has outstripped performance,
however amazing it may be. The Constellation is huge, and it is fast. But at the rate things are developing in aviation, it is already an aerial ox cart. When Americans finally fly as frequently as they now ride, having lost the power of locomotion by shank's mare in the meantime, they will climb aboard, take a deep breath and count to 10—and they will be where they are going.

Instantaneous transportation has been man's favorite dream down through the ages. It is now within reach. Developments are impressive, but they are only developments, after all. The magic carpet is still somewhere in the future,
or perhaps in the past. It is convenient to whip
across a continent in seven hours, convenient to span an ocean in not much more than seven and more convenient yet to circle the globe in a matter of a few days.

What we are confidently waiting for now is the final great development that will put us
where we want to be the instant we decide to go there. We have implicit confidence in the designers and engineers and shall await their forthcoming triumph impatiently. It can't be much longer now.

The Unknown Quantity

INVASION fever, which by this time must have sent German temperatures soaring even higher than those of Great Britain and the United States, will hit a new high as the result of the latest in a series of drastic security measures taken by the British government. The military quarantine which will hold diplomats of all countries in Britain until it is safe to let them go home and will submit their correspondence
to official censorship is drastic and unprecedented.

Plainly, if invasion guessers knew how long
it would be after the quarantine was imposed
until, in official judgment, absolute security
concerning invasion plans had been attained,
they would have the probable invasion date.
Or, to put it the other way, if the guessers knew approximately how long the British government thought it dared hold diplomats of other countries virtually incommunicado without complications, they would have the date.

Invasion of Europe, in other words, is imminent, or something that is going to occur at some indefinite time in the future, depending on the unknown quantity in all the security measures being announced for public consideration. The very fact they are being announced, of course, suggests that part of the purpose is to keep the Germans guessing as furiously as Allied citizens who are not in on the secret, either.

Their Day in Court

THE apparent strategy in the defense of 30 persons being tried in federal court in Washington, charged with seditious conspiracy to disaffect the Army and Navy and establish a National Socialist form of government in the United States, is to take advantage of every technicality found in the constitutional and statutory law and rulings thereon in American jurisprudence. This is their guaranteed right.

Our system of law calls for fair trials to determine actual guilt. That principle is not suspended in wartime; it merely requires an extra effort to maintain it when feelings run
high, as they inevitably do against persons charged with crimes against the state. In this connection, it is important to realize the difference between sedition and treason. The latter is defined as a violation of allegiance to the community. The Constitution says it shall consist only "in levying war against the United States,
or in adhering to their enemies, giving them
aid and comfort."

Offenses allied to treason, but less serious,
are classified as sedition—a loose term applied
to a wide range of practices tending to disturb public tranquility by deed, word or writing,
but which fall short of actual treason. The 30 defendants on trial in Washington are charged with seditious conspiracy, far different from treason. Their trial is expected to last several months and, by its nature, will attract wide public attention. If it is borne in mind consistently that the defendants are having their day in court—their guaranteed right under the law of the United States—the legalities of the case will be infinitely easier to follow and comprehend.

News Behind the News

Too Many One-Sided Deals Seen Pending for U. S. Help to Foreign Nations After War.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 20 —
Treasury Secretary Morgenthau is again taking up the postwar world bank proposal in which the basic idea is that the United States contribute the bulk of the money, but forfeit a control commensurate with its investment.

State Assistant Secretary Berle
is in London negotiating for a post-war air agreement, but he says, not considering the acquisition of air bases for the United States. Ex-Gov. Lehman is working on food rehabilitation whereby we contribute the food and other officials are laboring on world WPA plans which call for the United States to finance reconstruction.

The working basis upon which all are proceeding in all these things seems to be approximately the same, namely that this country must give but not take. Our negotiators seem inclined to look at this nation as rich and powerful, and they wish to be free with its power as well as money.

Nothing in Exchange
They are perfectly sincere. Their premise is that we must "help"
the world, but they follow it so deeply that they want to repudiate
every thought of gain for us as unworthy, any thought of acquisition as almost a sin.

But take the long range view.
Suppose we spend and lend postwar money throughout the world for its rehabilitation. At last sight, that looks like real help,
and it is—temporarily.

It is just about the same help
as a shot in the arm, only that then come the after-effects. After the money is spent, or when the loan cannot be repaid, you begin to get the real appraisal of such help.

Foreign nations cannot repay except in goods, but we can take them to loan more and more money from us never improves
their position, only plunges them

further and further in a debt they already cannot pay.

Aid Only Temporary

But to give them the money outright helps them only temporarily also. If it enables them to build industries that compete with ours,
it hurts our trade, weakens our position for good in the world,
and gives them some improved
position as against us—but does it
"help" the world as a whole?

Of course not. It only helps France, or Poland, or whatever nation, as against the United States, which really hurts the world. If you assume that our leadership and our superior position is good for the world in the first place, as you must.

The only way a real constructive, economic "help" could be achieved is if we get something productive economically out of such gifts and loans—if we get business, for instance, that improves our people or trade, or airfields that strengthen our position and our leadership.

That is not nationalism, imperialism, or such tommy-rot; it is the simplest common sense.

Off on Wrong Foot

The whole thing, therefore,
seems to be getting off on the wrong foot—the idea of giving,
unbalanced by acquiring, the notion of weakening the world, not building it up—and I mean weakening in every respect because a man who makes a loan to another who cannot repay, weakens both himself and the donor. This can only be justified as charity, not economics.

The handling of the situation
demands wisdom, and restraint.
On the world bank, the first questions that must arise from any common-sense standpoint is whether it is needed, whether existing exchange facilities (already managed completely by our government) are not enough for any good use.

Effect on Dollar

Second question is the malin-
cence of the American dollar value. If it is maintained as a respectable norm to the people of our country and the world, will
this not in itself "help" the world
more than a fifty cent dollar or a worthless dollar?

Compare the effects of the Chinese yen and American dollar on world stability today, and you will have what I mean (and we are already using slugs for nickels).

On the other post-war subjects,
the same basic issue is at stake.
The issue is not whether we shall
"help." Every thinking man wants to do that. The question is whether we are really going to help or hurt in the present state of our official mind.

Most of these agreements will have to be submitted to congress for appropriations or approval. If the agreements merely raise a fight and get into politics (and they certainly will on this current basis) what benefit to the world? Does it not seem possible that they may lead instead into a complete nullity of any sound practical effort to help the world?

New Link in Old Chain Letter

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—The old chain
letter racket is with us again,
only this time draped in the American flag and going under the guise of a "government approved"
scheme to promote the sale of war stamps.

Within the last few days here,
I have received two such letters.
Neither carried the old chain letter cautions of dire consequences
and had luck nevertheless if one should be so foolish as to break
the chain. Both made appeals to patriotism. Washington workers have told me of the letters. Postoffice officials admit the thing is mushrooming all over the country.

The last letter I received carried three paragraphs that are interesting:
"Buy a 25-cent war stamp and mail it to the name at the top of the list.

Official Paper

In a speech by Rep. Dirksen of Illinois on the floor of the house,
figures showing the public printer's estimate of the value of paper
used by various government agencies were quoted as follows:

Congress $410,000; department
of commerce $1,447,000; navy
$4,579,000; war department $9-810,000; department of agriculture $642,000; national housing agency $196,000; office of war information $261,000.

The original chain letter was dreamed up by some 10-cent
Ponzi, who couldn't have gone
very far in high-school algebra.
The present scheme of getting $780 or so was dreamed up by some probably well-intentioned
patriot, who visualized stimulating the sale of war stamps and picking up a few dollars on the side.

Post office officials here aren't getting any gray hairs over it yet,
but they will if it reaches anything like the proportions it did in the dime-chain letter days of a decade or more back.

It should come to pass,
there will be no alternative but
"to make a few examples" by prosecuting under existing laws.
It's admitted that under the circumstances, a jury probably wouldn't convict, but it wouldn't be a happy experience.

An official at the treasury department I mentioned it to, said
just tell them for us to keep on buying war stamps but don't give them away in any chain letters.

Political Principles of Washington Reviewed

From an Address by George W. Maxey.

IN creating the federal government, the American people laid down four commands, and these are clearly implicit in the Constitution they ordained. They are:

1. The federal government shall keep to its sphere and the states
to their proper spheres of government.

2. No official shall be entrusted with autocratic power.

3. Unrestrained power shall never be lodged anywhere, not in the President, not in the congress,
not even in a majority.

4. There shall be maintained an absolutely independent judiciary.

Our first President clearly recognized these commands, and his clearly revealed in his many utterances. In his Farewell Address
George Washington admonished
his countrymen to be ever on the alert against "the consolidation of the powers of all departments of the government into one," and he said: "Let there be no change by usurpation for it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed." He declared that "to preserve the reciprocal checks" provided for in the Constitution "must be as necessary as to institute them."

WE HEAR a lot today about some "new freedoms." They are "new" indeed, for the greatest thinkers and the greatest statesmen who ever lived never heard of them. These new freedoms are "freedom from want"
and "freedom from fear." Any man who declares that government can and should provide these freedoms is either an ignoramus or a fraud. Freedom from want is not a gift of government
at all, and it is a gift of God only to the extent the recipient cooperates for God helps only those who help themselves.

You can read everything ever
said by Washington, Franklin Jefferson, Lincoln and all the other great men of this republic and you will not find one word fostering the idea that it is the duty of government to guarantee any able-bodied individual freedom
from want. Let any government promise freedom from want and there will spring up a multitude of languid loafers to prey on the possessions of those who are willing to work and save. For 144 years no president of the United States ever encouraged the taxing of the thrifty to support the indolent.

Thomas Jefferson said: "It is the American way to find means within ourselves to surmount our difficulties and not to lean on others. Washington and Jefferson knew that if a government encouraged leaning, the leaneers will eventually outnumber the lifters as to cause a complete collapse." Our first President's ideal American was not a "kept man,"
he preferred producers to takers.

Plato said: "Every tyrant made his first appearance as the friend
and protector of the people."
Alexander Hamilton said: "Of those men who have overturned
the liberties of republics the greatest number have begun their career by paying obsequious court
to the people, beginning as demagogues and ending as tyrants."

If this nation had, during the 1930's, been mindful of Washington's creed on preparedness—"To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace"—there would be no
global war today. When Hitler began his conquests in 1939, he knew that we could then put in the field only 60,000 well-armed,
well-trained troops; and a number of our short-sighted appeasers in Washington had done their best to give Hitler to understand that no matter what brutalities he heaped upon the rest of mankind this country would not fight.

We even agreed to keep American ships off the seas so that Hitler's pirates could roam and rob and kill at will. All honor to Sen. Carter Glass who, shamed by the cowardly action of his country, declared: "To keep American ships off the seas at the behest of that arch-assassin Hitler is a blot on the American flag."

"Every time I hear this company's program I wish I used their product—so I could stop."

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

King Emmanuel Explains

I've decided to retire
As the King of Italy.
For the job, I have concluded,
Isn't what it used to be?
I took hold in nineteen hundred
When a king could do no wrong.
But I've been so wrong since that time
That I don't deplore the song.

When the bustle was in flower —
In the time of cycling tourists
I took over, young and gay;
Sunny Italy they called it.
Where the tenors were sublime .
And when all the Mussolinis
Were six dozen for a dime!

Music, laughter and fiestas,
Pageantry and vivid tones
Marked a country very happy (Back before those microphones);
It was then a land of songsters;
In the parks we loved to walk,
And we made our error going
In for balconies and talk!

All the world then beamed upon us —
Not a soul at us was sore;
That was back when no Italian
Yelled "We gotta have a war!"
Those first twenty years were lovely,
I was sitting pretty, but Fate was waiting with that printer
Whose big mouth was never shut!

Oh, I know I pulled a boner
When I let that big bum in,
But the days were extra dizzy —
And that guy had such a chin:
I was fooled — I now admit it —
I was craven, yes, I know,
But I never quite suspected
Just how far that egg would go.

Do not rub it in, I pray thee.
Well I know that I was wrong.
But that fat guy with his chins out
Looked so very big and strong!
Height, weight, reach he had upon me
And my life had been so snazzy . . .
But I make my exit wishing
I HAD HUNG ONE ON THE MUG!

American Scene

At a movie house the other night pictures
Pic. Kelly, the American war hero, who provided something of a one-man army in Italy, was thrown on the screen. There was little applause. The next moment flashes from coming attributions showed Errol Flynn, and scores of you women shrieked and cheered. It worried all night. Maybe we are not getting sufficient vigilance.

Secretary Ickes thinks it would be doing
war veterans a favor to turn over surplus pictures to them after the war. The veterans can get even by proposing to turn over the Cass operations to Mr. Ickes right now.

The Nazis claim they have a new vessels which can freeze people to death at yards. Something that has as its basic component Hitler's bloodstream, we understand.

For the Defense

By Truman Twell

Newspaper people no longer cry out. You Roosevelt gives them the hot foot. You get used to anything after a while. When White House turns the heat on these days,
the let's-you-and-him-it crowd hiss, "You
see what H. said about you?" the p
just murmurs, "Yes, yes, that's been going on
years."

But every time the latest slur is repeated
the one about newspapermen going to war
if the manpower shortage doesn't ease up this writer gets hotter. Mr. Roosevelt's laughing in a press conference that the let's-you-and-him-it crowd hiss, "You
see what H. said about you?" the p
years."

We have seen these boys harvest stuff,
they feature the finest qualities of engineers and mechanical geniuses. They go seriously with both arms flying, and when they are through there isn't a toothpick left in their mouths, a full glass left. I mention that it can be eaten, and the press
handle the harvest.

As for the idea of work in general, with some misinformed persons think is often
to the kind of homo sapiens who is sapient enough to try to reduce a mortgage with a writer, newspapermen love to work. They spend nearly all their time when they are duty working and always show up dog-tired the next day. There are few occupations in this country whose members work
any harder than they do.

Slanderers also hint newspaper people
what they are for the reason so many gravitate toward journalism when they go to school. It is supposed to be an easy way out. But this is a canard. A canard is a rumour. The word comes from an old French expression about ducks, which are canards. Newspaper people are always leaving up things like this, instead of using a simple word like "fib." They do not seek the easy way out. As any fair-minded person can see.

There are some newspaper people who read books. As a class, they are slow but kind to their families. Many of them have gone through high school, and a few have thrown out of college. They dress neatly, not flashily, and their sex usually are not
in many cases, you might be around them
a while before noticing they are any different from any other kind of people, though.

Mr. Roosevelt couldn't find anyone eager to help with the harvest. The will explain how things actually were harvested. And when it's all over, it will explain wrong.

It will be just as helpful if called on knows how to be without actually selecting.

on American history and a dis-
honour to our dead."
Washington in his last message
to congress said: "To secure respect to a neutral flag requires a naval force organized and ready to vindicate it from insult or aggression. This may even prevent the necessity of going to war by discouraging belligerent powers
from committing such violations
of the rights of the neutral power
as may first or last, leave no other option." Washington knew that wealth plus weakness invites aggression and that a nation which is not prepared for war is ripe for slavery.

Sleep-Talking Soldier Finds Wish Comes True

By The Associated Press
VICKSBURG, Mich.—Cpl. Donald Waldron of Camp Howze, Tex., talks in his sleep. "Wish I'd get a letter from a girl," he muttered one night. A few days later he got 18 letters from 18 girls. An eavesdropping buddy arranged it all through a girl friend and her 17 schoolmates. Waldron wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Waldron.

Penney's Anniversary

1902-1944

NEIGHBORLY FOR FORTY-TWO YEARS

A STORE gives its best service when it is also a good friend and neighbor to its customers.

It was in this spirit that Mr. Penney started his first little store in Kemmerer, Wyoming, 42 years ago this month.

All these years, we have steadfastly tried to be good neighbors, and, in turn, our customers have shown us the warm friendly regard that neighbors bestow on those they like and trust. All these years, their confidence and good-will has remained undisturbed.

The thrifty home-makers who shop at Penney's know they can depend on us for the things they need, in the dependable qualities they must have, at prices that are right.

RIG DAY COMING. And that big day is when her son, "Commando" Charles Kelly, Pittsburg's No. 1 war hero, comes home. Sergeant Kelly, awarded the Medal of Honor, which was pinned on him by Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark in Italy, is due home soon after his mother, rapidly losing her sight, pleaded for a furlough for the "one-man army" so she could see him once more. "Commando" Kelly is credited with killing 40 Germans on the Italian front. Mrs. Kelly is shown tagged out in new clothes—waiting for the big day to arrive.

Annual Party of Club Is Held at Duluth Ave. Home

The annual party of the Literary Arts club was held at the home of Mrs. C. B. Morrison of Duluth avenue Monday evening. Tickets were presented at the door for admission to the "radio studio" living room. A program of recordings in charge of Mrs. A. E. Morrison, who also acted as master of ceremonies, was presented. The president of the club, Miss Esther Guthery, acted as station announcer. Classical, semi-classical and swing tunes were played. During the broadcast, Mrs. Richard Morgan conducted a musical quiz with prizes given to the winners. The program then "signed off" and a business meeting followed.

Miss Guthery welcomed Mrs. Ralph Terrill as a new member, and Mrs. Charles Harmon, a former member who has been out of the city, was welcomed back. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Joseph Roby of Leoti, Mrs. Bert Packard of Battle Creek, Mich., and Mrs. Richard Ren of New Philadelphia.

The social hour was in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. Robert Bushong with Mrs. Richard Isaly, Mrs. Richard Eicher and Mrs. Morgan assisting. Mrs. James Reed, president for next year, and Miss Guthery presided over a refreshment table decorated with spring flowers and green candles. Mrs. Reed and Miss Guthery were each presented a corsage from the group.

Meeker Woman, Upper Sandusky Bombardier Wed

SPECIAL TO THE STAR
MEEKER, April 20—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Anderson of Meeker are announcing the marriage of their daughter Floracelli to Lieut. Lloyd E. Falor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Falor of Upper Sandusky. The double ring ceremony solemnized by Rev. M. G. Ballenger took place at 7:30 Easter Sunday morning at the University Methodist church at Tucson, Ariz.

The bride wore a French blue suit with black and white accessories. She wore a white orchid and carried a small white Bible and a silk handkerchief which had belonged to her maternal great grandmother.

Dorina Anderson, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a green suit and a shoulder corsage of white roses and white sweetpeas.

The bridegroom, bombardier in the army air corps, was attended by his twin brother, Pfc. Floyd Falor, now located at Amarillo, Field, Amarillo, Tex. A vocal solo preceded the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Meeker high school and attended Bowling Green State university. She was a member of the faculty in Bloomville school last year. Until her resignation recently she was employed by the Van Wert board of education.

Upper Sandusky high school where he also took two years of post graduate work. He has been in the service since January 1943. Lt. and Mrs. Falor will live in Tucson where he is stationed.

Weddings
Mrs. Helen Bruck, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Drouth of Galion, and Howard Barnhart of Bain avenue were united in marriage Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock in the St. Mary Catholic church. The ceremony was read by Rev. Father William J. Spickerman. The couple was attended by Mrs. James Burkle of Cleveland, sister of the bride, and George Sheehy.

The bride was dressed in a gold wool suit with which she wore California violet accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Burkle wore kelly green with tan accessories. Her flowers were American beauty clematis.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at Ringling Inn. The color scheme was gold and violet and a bride's cake holding a miniature bride and groom centered the table.

The new Mrs. Barnhart was formerly employed as a bookkeeper in Mansfield. Mr. Barnhart works at the Erie Railroad. Following a short wedding trip, they will live at 207 Bain avenue.

The Ruby

The red ruby is the "Gem of Gems" according to Hindus, who prize it above other precious stones. It is the birthstone of the month of July and is said to bring its wearer health, wealth, wisdom and happiness. It is the hardest of gemstones with the exception of the diamond.

The greatest portion of the world's supply of rubies comes from Burma, Siam and Ceylon. Gem experts grade the color and quality rather than to locations where they are found. The color of the stone being considered of greater importance than the relative degree of perfection.

RULING IN DELAWARE ESTATE REVERSED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 29—The Ohio supreme court yesterday reversed a Delaware county decision and held that Louis C. Wentz, also known as Louis C. Delmore, had the right to contest the will of William P. Wentz, his father by adoption.

Delmore was adopted as an adult under New York laws. Charitable institutions which had been bequeathed the bulk of the estate held that Delmore's adoption was invalid under Ohio law which permits only the adoption of minors.

The will was contested under an Ohio law which outlaws bequests to charitable institutions made by wills executed less than a year prior to death if there is a surviving child. The Wentz will was made only three months before he died.

Among the charitable institutions the elder Wentz had bequeathed the bulk of his estate to was the Ohio Masonic home at Springfield.

The high court refused to review a Hamilton county decision upholding the will of the late William Thorndyke, prominent Cincinnati attorney and politician.

Brothers and sisters of Thorndyke had sought to break the will which left the bulk of the estate to his widow. They contended Thorndyke and his wife had not been legally married—charging she had not been divorced legally from Harold H. Walter prior to her marriage to Thorndyke in 1936. It was alleged she had not been a legal resident of Butler county for the prescribed 30 days prior to receiving her divorce decree.

CHICAGO—Eugene J. Benz, president of Benge associates, said that women employed in industry and commerce have a higher morale rating than men in all aspects. The attitude of women toward the boss, the job and the company is healthier than that of men. Therefore, he said, women might be considered more conscientious than men.

RECOGNIZE SON IN WAR PRISON GROUP

Recognized by Parents.

Marion County parents were overjoyed and somewhat relieved recently when they recognized a picture of their son, a prisoner of war in Germany, in a copy of the Prisoners of War Bulletin sent them monthly by the Red Cross at Washington, D. C.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hunt of south of Marion, recognized among a group of five prisoners their son, Pvt. Lawrence Hunt, member of a group of infantrymen taken prisoner in North Africa Feb. 17, 1943. He enlisted in service Oct. 21, 1941, was sent to Ireland in February, 1942 and thence to Africa.

The group picture was taken in what looked like a doorway of a building with three members including Pvt. Hunt leaning on the top of a half-door, a common type of entrance in some parts of the country there. The father's pleased comment was that "it looks like they have been fed well."

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt have received letters from their son at various times, usually three to five months after the letters have been dated. The last one they received was the first part of this month. It was dated Jan. 30. In this letter Pvt. Hunt told them that following Christmas he received a box they had sent him and that he has received other packages from the Red Cross.

The picture in which the Hunts recognized their son was sent by prisoner to his father, who is employed in a Red Cross food packaging center at Philadelphia and who passed the picture on to the Red Cross Prisoner of War Bulletin. It was captioned in part, "Unidentified Americans at Staling II B."

"The Hunts have another son in a war zone. Pfc. Delbert Hunt who is with an engineer division in the southwest Pacific area."

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache
Many mothers relieve aching backache quickly, sure they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are nature's chief way of taking the extra acids and waste out of the blood. They help every person pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause aching backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of sleep and energy, itching at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty urination with burning and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give lasting relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Throckmorton, Robert Wolfe, Paul Rupp, A. J. Ross, Mitchell Robertson, Forest Porter, Charles McAnall, Irwin Bennett, H. G. Curran, J. F. Mosher, Clyde Blair, Ralph Heacock, Paul and Burton Nesbitt, C. W. Gordin, C. S. Snyder, and E. R. McMillan.

Species of trees distributed include Norway spruce, pitch pine, red pine, green ash, black walnut, black locust, and hazelnut.

These trees were received from the U. S. Soil Conservation Service as a grant to the Headwaters District.

The headwaters supervisors, in cooperation with the extension service, experiment station, and the soil conservation service, are again planning a group of pasture establishment demonstrations by the slash cultivation method this spring. The plots established last year in the district were successful, and the experiment station is interested in getting additional information on this method of establishing good meadows and pastures.

Kernat Morse of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources at Columbus will attend a meeting of the headwaters supervisors Friday night.

The term past program will be discussed. The meeting will be held in the court house at Mt. Pleasant at 8 p. m.

Nazis Drafting European Plan

Berlin Prepares Own Type of Magna Charta for Continent.

By WADE WERNER
AP War Correspondent

LISBON, April 20—The Nazis seem to be getting ready to proclaim some kind of "magna charta" for Europe, with the double purpose of persuading Europeans their best chance of escaping post-war social and economic chaos will be under German leadership while convincing the impoverished German masses they won't have to go bolshevik to get social justice.

Indications in this direction are seen in discussions of the post-war order appearing in the provincial German press and also in the 17-point program recently drawn up by Quisling economists and social theorists from all parts of Europe at a conference in Bad Salzbrunn.

At Bad Salzbrunn, which is situated in Silesia relatively remote from the threat of allied bombs, Hitler's followers could discuss the post-war social structure of Europe.

Hit Middle Course
They frankly aimed at something halfway between "the discredited methods of the capitalist social welfare policy and the disruptive anti-social slogans of class-war Marxism."

Their 17-point program accordingly looks like a compromise between the 1936 Stalin constitution, President Roosevelt's "four freedoms," Britain's post-war housing and social security plans, the principles of the Nazi party. For instance:

Point four of the program emphasized "the right to work of every citizen," which sounds a little like Stalin's constitution. Point eight stresses the right of every family to "adequate living quarters and adequate means of existence"—in other words, good post-war housing and freedom from want.

Attitude Toward Farming
Point 13 stresses the more abundant life, specifically sufficient time for leisure and the pursuit of cultural activities. The fourteenth point emphasized the necessity of applying "the principles of the socialist order to industry and agriculture, and emphasizes that this applies to farm labor as well as land, but avoids any reference to collective farms.

This all adds up to what is described not as national socialism but "volkskisch" socialism. Each of the various peoples (volker) of Europe is expected to develop the type of socialist setup best suited to its particular character and needs. The general aim is the creation of a "socialist Europe without a proletariat."

Presbyterian Auxiliary Meets at Evans Home

Mrs. Glenmore Hawkins and Mrs. Eva Magill were chosen delegates to the district Presbyterian meeting Friday at the First Presbyterian church, when the Catherine Woods auxiliary met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. P. Evans of 177 Lincoln avenue. A prayer service for missionaries was conducted by Mrs. J. E. Cookston. Miss Lottie Touchman read letters from Rev. Auden D. Coble, missionary in Colombia, and from the district president. A letter from the Tucson Indian Training school was read by Miss Eloise Tschannen.

Mrs. A. H. Exton presided and Mrs. Evans conducted a Stewardship meeting. The Lord's Prayer was repeated by five-year-old Nean Shoup who was a guest. Miss Madeline Wynn, new director of religious education was also a guest. Mile boxes amounting to $58.30 were presented with Scripture verses.

A dinner on May 16 at the home of Mrs. J. H. Andrews of 44 East Center street will be the final meeting of the season.

Junior Red Cross To Collect Gifts by May 15

Junior Red Cross members collecting games, puzzle books, coat hangers and other scheduled articles for camps and use by service men are asked to have their contributions at the Red Cross office by May 15, as shipment will be made shortly after that date.

Reports of the collections were made at a meeting of the chapter Saturday at the chapter office. Easter favors were sent to the Veterans' hospital at Dayton, the Marion County Children's home, Wadwell Ladies' home, City hospital and County home. Three schools, Edison, Forest Lawn and Grand Prairie, reported contributions of money to the National Children's fund. Reports showed that all were working on scrap books, and that the boys are working on ash trays and other articles for service camps.

Double House Hit by $100 Roof Fire

Sparks from a chimney set fire to the roof of a double house at 588 Wood street today, resulting in a loss of approximately $100. Kermit Buchanan and Robert Spain occupy the two apartments. Firemen from the West Center street station and quad truck from Central answered the call at 10:34 a. m.

ELECTED AT GALION

GALION—Mrs. Russell Smith has been elected president of the Senior High School Parent-Teachers Association. She was chosen at a meeting of the association this week, and will serve with the following officers: vice president, Mrs. Ralph Spies; secretary, Mrs. Fred Zoller; treasurer, Miss Kathryn Harris.

From 1838 to 1897 the Reformed Dutch church was the only place of worship in New York City.

TEACHERS HEAR A. C. HORROCKS

Akron Speaker Sees Opportunities for a Better World in Post-War Era.

A. C. Horrocks of Akron spoke Wednesday night at Central Junior High school under the auspices of the Marion Education association. Mr. Horrocks, who is counsel to the public relations department of Goodyear Rubber Co., took as his subject, "Beyond the Horizon," outlining the power and technical advancement which our men in the armed forces are receiving and which will some day return to us.

Working for our good reputation with the rest of the world now are the facts that 90 per cent of the war supplies for the United Nations are leaving our ports now and that American soldiers have been on their good conduct in foreign fields. Mr. Horrocks stated. He explained that American soldiers are gaining the confidence of foreign populations wherever they go and have not been guilty of crimes committed on the people as have soldiers of the enemy.

Going a step further, Mr. Horrocks visualized a post-war world in which there need be no depression. Demands for new products will provide work for our industries and our gold reserve will build up financial system throughout the world. He will return with a knowledge of world markets which will provide us a background for building markets for our goods in foreign fields, he said.

"The war is not all death, tears, bloodshed and suffering," Mr. Horrocks remarked, "for beyond the horizon with our fighting men lies a richness and a power which we do not possess." One of the great things to come out of this war, he said, is a renewed faith in God. He found by fighting men that when young men face death they turn to God. He explained that he had learned more of the power of God in our hospitals in the last nine months than he had known in the whole of his life. Expressing supreme faith in tomorrow when the world is again out of war, Mr. Horrocks stated, "This is not the end. This is the dawn, not the sunset."

Mrs. Fern West, president of the Marion Education association, introduced Mr. Horrocks. Miss Patricia Bryans played a violin solo. "Romance in G minor" by Beethoven, accompanied at the piano by Miss Frances Hans. Miss Jane Scott, school music instructor, led the audience in singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

Deaths of children under 15 rose 11 per cent in 1943.

M. P. Military police trainees at Ft. Benning, Ga., voted they'd like to be pinched by actress Vivian Austin (above).

Fire Destroys 500 Chicks Near Ashley

ASHLEY — Fire originating from an oil burner in a brooder house on the Carper farm, near Ashley, destroyed 500 two-week-old chicks Monday. Asa Bowman, occupant of the farm, said the fact that he had covered the floor with peat was the only thing that prevented the fire from burning the building. He had the fire under control when the Ashley fire department arrived.

Couple Exchange Vows in Church at Galion

GALION, April 19—The marriage last Sunday of Dorothy Fay Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton E. Miller of Ontario, and William Calvin Blackford, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Blackford of Galion, was announced here Tuesday. The single ring service was read in the First Lutheran church at 2:30 p. m., by Rev. Harry R. Merle, pastor of the church.

The couple was attended by her sister, Ruth Miller, and Wilbur Sands. For her wedding the bride was attired in a navy blue and white dress with navy accessories, and she had a corsage of pink roses. The maid of honor wore pink with navy accessories and had a corsage of roses.

At the Blackford home, following the ceremony, a supper was served to twenty-five guests. The bride was graduated from Ontario High school in 1942, and is employed as stenographer in the law office of Knisely and Coble. Mr. Blackford was graduated from Galion High school in 1939. He is employed at the Galion Metallic Vault company. For the present the couple will live with the parents of Mr. Blackford.

Women from 33 Churches To Meet

Representatives of 33 churches are expected here tomorrow for the thirty-second annual meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Presbytery of Marion. Sessions will be held in First Presbyterian church with the morning session opening at 9:45. "Press With Vigor On" will be the theme and special speakers will be Miss E. Irene Forsythe of Tingtiao, China, and Mrs. F. Lester Gary, Ohio synodical president.

Mrs. Karl Schell, president of the host society, will give greetings in the morning. Special music will be presented by the Marion group. On committees reporting are Mrs. Stewart Vermillion and Mrs. J. A. Carriker. Rev. Howard L. Olewiler is host pastor.

Members were ordered to give prompt release of any news not harmful to security. When a commander does withhold news, he must submit the facts to Washington so the OWI and Army and Navy officials may review them and make the final decision.

David said it would be quite impossible to make a full reporting of every incident in which one or two men were killed by their supporting fire—"in every war some people get out in front and are shot by their own men."

To date, the announced losses from accidental shooting down of American planes totals 473 men and 34 aircraft.

The first such known instance occurred March 11, off Gela, on the southern Sicilian coast when 410 men and 23 transports were shot down as they flew into the range of enemy and allied fire in the wage of enemy planes.

Allied anti-aircraft fire which was turned on the planes in this instance was said to have come from both land and naval guns but in the more recent loss the navy emphasized that the fire did not come from U. S. naval vessels.

These were the two major incidents in a chain of accidents which now totals six.

Feb. 23—13 men killed, 45 wounded in the accidental shelling of three landing boats by an American destroyer in a landing assault on Parry Island in Eniwetok atoll in the Marshall islands.

"Restricted visibility" and "difficult conditions of navigation" were blamed.

March 31—An American transport plane, operated by a civilian contract air crew, was shot down accidentally by British carrier-operated fighter planes protecting an allied convoy. Six men were lost.

In addition, it was reported by General MacArthur that late in March three P-T boats were bombed accidentally by land based planes in the southwest Pacific in two separate attacks.

U. S. SOCIETY MEETS
A study book, "For All of Life," was reviewed by Mrs. Dorothy Burkepile at a meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the First United Brethren church on Thursday afternoon, April 13, in the community house on South Prospect street.

Installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. Garrison Roebuck. Names of the officers were published in March.

A membership contest with teams headed by Mrs. Clara Hildreth and Mrs. Roebuck was won by Mrs. Hildreth's team.

The next meeting will be a mother and daughter banquet on May 4. Mrs. Roebuck is chairman of the committee for arrangements with Mrs. Marie Dilsaver as chairman of the kitchen committee.

GOODYEAR STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK

By The Associated Press
AKRON, O., April 20—Production returned to normal in two departments of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. today, as company officials reported CIO United Rubber Workers back on their jobs after a three-day work stoppage.

The return to work followed threats of disciplinary action by international union officers, who said the stoppage was a protest against transfer of Negro workers, and a back-to-work order issued by the labor board.

Early 700 workers returned to work yesterday, after Sherman H. Dalrymple, international president, threatened to take disciplinary action, and another 300 employees resumed work today, the company said.

Dalrymple asked officers of the Goodyear union local to furnish a list of names of persons refusing to work and explained it was the organization's policy to discipline members involved in unauthorized walkouts.

A company spokesman reported production was halted last night in two departments.

Church Society Meets at Home in Agosta

Special to The Star
AGOSTA — The Women's Society of Christian Service met Wednesday with Mrs. Noah Schaber of north of Agosta, Mrs. John James conducted the devotion. The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Alvin LaRue. The program hour was devoted to discussions on "China" by Mrs. Howard Sharp, Mrs. Gomer Johnson and Mrs. Harry Gracely.

Mrs. Ray Kurtz, Mrs. Gordo Chambers, Janet Tron, Carol and John Sharp were guests.

The Friendly circle Sunday school class of the Methodist church met Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Furniss. Games were played and contests were won by Mrs. Opal Furniss, Ite Jean Chapman and Mr. George Schertzer.

Mrs. Lem De Haven who underwent a major operation at Marion City hospital recently was brought to her home Monday.

Mrs. Clara Williams was taken to a Columbus hospital Monday for observation.

RATION BOOK HANDICAP

By The Associated Press
ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 19—A man—admittedly color blind—told his rationing board that while disposing of his family's unneeded blue ration stamps, he unwittingly threw away the red meat stamps, too. The board, after investigation, announced today it had accepted the story as authentic and it would replace the family's five currently effective ration books.

COAL DIDN'T JUMP, IT WAS THROWN

The Associated Press
MARION, N. D., April 19—
The mystery of the leaping light at Wild Plum rural school in Stark county is solved.
The leaping light was thrown
by the reported mysterious puffs of smoke didn't jump of their own accord or as the use of some chemicals were caused by simple sticks, "farmers matches."
The hands of a group of students hoisting their nearly teacher.
The mysterious hooded man
who existed in the pupils
imagination and the threatening
sometimes obscene notes
taped to the door of the little rural schoolhouse were penned by two girl students, age 12
and 13.
This ended the mystery of the
"hooded" school.
The girls refused to go to the school
where they told parents
officials alike, coal jumped out of the coal bucket and hopped
out of the room and fire flamed
textbooks, wall maps, window curtains, examination papers
and fixtures.

VETERAN ACTOR GIVES TALK TO ROTARY CLUB

Patriotic Sketch and Anecdotes
Related by Louis Lytton.
Louis Lytton, veteran stage performer who has appeared in many outstanding theatrical productions, was speaker in the weekly
luncheon meeting of the Marion Rotary club at Hotel Harding Tuesday noon. He recited a dramatic narrative, "I Am An American," and also related anecdotes
most of them humorous, regarding his long experience on the stage
and his association with noted stars.
This was one of two appearances of Mr. Lytton before Marion audiences during the day, his second being at the dinner meeting
of the Marion Association of University Women Tuesday night.
An introductory talk presenting the speaker to his Rotary audience was given by Wilson B.
Tway.
Adrien Busick, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for Marion participation in the annual district Rotary conference at Bowling Green April 23 night after four pupils of the school confessed.

Pillsbury's SPRING BLOSSOM Cake

- 1½ cups sifted Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder (or 1½ teaspoons double-acting)
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup cold water
- 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind
- 3 egg yolks, unbeaten
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 egg whites, unbeaten
- ½ cup sugar
- 1½ teaspoons lemon juice

1. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together three times. 2. Add water and lemon rind to egg yolks and beat well with a rotary egg beater until very light in color, and gradually increased in volume. 3. Add 1 cup sugar gradually, beating thoroughly after each addition. 4. Fold in dry ingredients, a small amount at a time. 5. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, adding the remaining sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Add lemon juice. 6. Fold into egg yolk mixture gently but thoroughly. 7. Pour into an ungreased 9-inch tube pan and bake in a slow oven (325° F.) for about 1 hour. 8. Invert pan until cold (about 1 hour). Cut cake into two layers. 9. Frost with the following:

WHIPPED FRUIT FROSTING

- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg white
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1½ cups drained, crushed, sweetened fruit (canned or fresh strawberries, peaches, cherries, cooked dried prunes, apricots or peaches.)

Add salt to egg white in top of double boiler; beat with rotary egg beater until stiff, but not dry. Place over boiling water; add lemon juice and fruit gradually; continue beating for five minutes or until mixture stands in soft mounds. Allow to cool. If desired, sugar may be added.

ABOUT ANYTHING

In and Around Marion

Phone Game

Remember the surprise packages you used to buy for a penny when you were a kid? The surprise you felt until it was opened and the variety of the contents had nothing on the "surprise" received after dialing a number on almost any telephone exchange in these war times of overworked lines. One young Marion matron dialing the number of a personal friend got the Marion cemetery, the county election board and the children's home all for the same number. Look them up—there's not even similar.

Poise Vs. Boys

At the recent hospital opening an amusing bit of byplay entertained one group that was being shown through by a Girl Scout guide. In the party were two Boy Scouts who were outdoing themselves in heckling the young lady. Every bit of information on her was met with a wise crack, but to no avail. The 13-year-old matron retained her poise throughout the tour, completely ignoring her annoyers. These youngsters learn early.

Hat Creation

Have you noticed the hat displays lately? It seems the scarcity of materials and possibly of labor has extended its results even to the style of lady's chapeaux. The now familiar "half hats" are at the peak of their popularity. Many women who are not able to find even a half hat to suit their taste simply don a few flowers and a yard of veiling and call it a hat. The amusing part of it all is that it's hard to tell some of these home made jobs from a Saks Fifth Avenue creation.

Butter Thought

For those who have been voicing their complaints because some of the downtown restaurants have stopped serving butter with morning rolls, this reminder. The fellows crouching down in the toilet holes over there or the sailors stalling off an attack on the sea don't have butter for every meal either. Some of them are lucky if they: K-rations hold out long enough.

37th Holds Japs Prisoner on Own Islands in Pacific

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 19—(Boulevard) is virtually a prison camp for the Japanese, just as other Pacific islands on which the Japs are surrounded, declared Lieut. Col. Henry L. Shafer of Cleveland Heights, commanding officer of a field artillery battalion of Ohio's 37th division.

Visiting his family while awaiting reassignment, Col. Shafer told an interviewer "the Japs cannot get supplies and cannot get off the island."

"It works for an advantage for us," he explained. "We don't have to feed, hospitalize or clothe them, all we have to do is wait for them to die of starvation or surrender."

Col. Shafer said "the Japanese soldier knows how to die, he is fanatic and brave, he obeys commands explicitly and he is a tricky opponent."

"He is stupid and lacks mental flexibility. The Japs make up their minds on what we are going to do and then are surprised when we don't do it. That throws them into confusion and they are lost."

Referring to the 37th division, Col. Shafer declared "our men are doing a good job and the people here at home should know about it. Every man of the 37th over there is a hero."

Col. Shafer said reports that most of the 37th division would be relieved by late summer were "greatly exaggerated." Some men will be returned home under the Army's rotation plan but great numbers will be unable to do so because of the necessities of war, he explained.

"The men over there know that," the colonel added. "The people here should also realize that this division is among the best over there and is vitally needed."

ROOSEVELT NOW COLONEL

WASHINGTON, April 19—Marine Corps headquarters today announced the promotion of Lt. (Col) James Roosevelt, U.S.M.C., eldest son of the President, to the rank of full colonel.

Anniversary Meeting Is Held by Chapter

Past matrons, past patrons and charter members of Lydia chapter No. 23, Order of Eastern Star, were guests at an anniversary meeting of the chapter in the Masonic Temple Monday night. A welcome was extended to the guests by Mrs. Emma Bondley, working matron. Also welcomed were Morris Hall, visiting president; Mrs. Zoa Hill, president of the district; and Pauline Runt, secretary of the district. A ceremony in honor of the guests was presented by Mrs. Ruth Carnhart, Mrs. Genevieve White, Mrs. Dorothy Gallaway, Mrs. Clara Heaton, Mrs. Ruth Fields and Mrs. Faye Jones. The chapter was draped in memory of Mrs. Leona Sapp.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADLE GARRISON

I WANTED a sign of love after stand, put the oranges it contained on the table and filled it with oranges, lemons, grapefruit, tangerines, apples, and a few grapes.

Protests

"You can't carry those two heavy bags," Katie protested, as she picked up the basket balancing the metal container of flower pots in my other hand.

"Of course I can," I told her. "Now don't say anything more about it, please. It's sort of you to think of me, Katie, but I'll get along splendidly—and it will be dinner-time soon," I added craftily.

"Sure I can," she responded.

Flash Gordon

Then please put into it right away a half pound of butter in one of those covered refrigerator dishes, a quarter of milk in a bottle, and a half-pint of cream, not full, amended hastily, put in enough for coffee for two men for a day.

"Put in also," I directed, "a pound of bacon and cut off a piece of ham which would make three steaks, but don't slice it. Then I want a dozen eggs, a fresh loaf of bread, and four each of your cookies and doughnuts."

"You think all those go in kettle?" she demanded.

"No, I don't," I replied. "But the butter, the cream, the milk and the eggs will, and perhaps the cookies and doughnuts on top. Put the bacon, the ham and the bread in another kettle, which we will bring back to you in an hour at the longest."

"Okay," she said, going to the refrigerator, and I followed the boys and the store where they stood looking around at the bags of herbs hanging from the ceiling, and the rows of cans of vegetables and fruits from the farm lining the shelves.

"I want you to go down to the cellar," I said. "One of you fill a pail with the sand in which the carrots and beets and leeks and cabbage have been buried. Then pick up one of the empty window boxes, and bring that with you, too. The other boy is to get one of those empty sacks and put into it a half peck—not more—of potatoes, two dozen onions, six beets, six turnips, six leeks, six medium-size carrots and one small cabbage. When you're through, come back up here."

Flash Gordon

"Okay," they answered, and vanished on the word. I knew that each of the cupboard doors lining the hidden apartment held one of each variety of fruits and vegetables and jams and relishes, and had put up, beside enough staples for a short siege, so I wasted no time on anything except the long window boxes, filled with growing mint, chives, parsley and other herbs. With the aid of a trowel lying beside the box, I transferred a plant of each variety into a flower pot filled with earth, parked them all into a handled container which I use for carrying flower pots around in the spring and autumn, and took the container into my hand up from the cellar with the things I had asked them to bring.

"Here's everything," they said.

"Then we'll start," I said, turning back to the kitchen where Katie had the handled kettle and the other one filled with the things I had ordered.

"Here!" Junior said. "We'll take these."

He shifted the empty window box from his left hand to a position under his other arm, from which already depended his right hand with the pail of sand. Then he picked up one of the kettles, and motioned Roderick to the other one.

"You can tote that sack with one hand just as well as you can with two," he said, and Roderick, just as willing as Junior, but a little slower in seeing opportunities for work, took one hand from his sack and held it out for the kettle which I handed him.

"Go ahead to the chimney door and wait for me," I said. "Gladie has Faith, so she won't see you. I'll be there almost as soon as you will."

I wanted to get them and their adorable civility out of the way, for I knew they would try to relieve me of an additional burden, the necessity for which had not occurred to me before. I took a deep breath from its place on a

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Ductless Glands

The two problems concerning disorders of the ductless glands, which the general practitioner meets, are thyroid troubles and the female climacteric.

The chief reason the two conditions named concern the general practitioner is because they are so common. The problems of the menopause afflict at least half the population. Some form of thyroid gland trouble affects about 10 per cent of the population at some time in their lives.

The thyroid gland pours an internal secretion directly into the blood stream, not through a duct into the body cavity (as, for instance, do the salivary glands), which is why it is called a ductless gland. This secretion is very necessary for normal living. It is a general regulator which controls the body temperature, the utilization of food, and the destruction of waste tissue, the activity of the mind, body weight, muscular tonus, digestive efficiency, etc.

The frank disorders of the thyroid are very easy to recognize. One is so-called exophthalmic goiter where the eyes protrude, the muscles tremble, the heart beats fast and the thyroid gland in the neck can be seen to be enlarged. This condition is caused usually by an over-abundance of the secretion of the gland. The other disorder due to lack of the secretion appears in two somewhat different forms—in infancy and childhood, resulting in a mentally sluggish and overweight child, of peculiar bodily proportions, and in middle-aged people increased in weight, thickening of the skin and mental sluggishness.

But the conditions do not always appear in such clear cut forms. Thyroid trouble may also appear under the mask of (1) heart trouble—palpitation and anginal pains; (2) indigestion, flatulence and constipation; (3) arthritis with vague aches, and (4) female disorders from artificial menopause to sterility.

We have an exact laboratory method of telling whether the thyroid is secreting too much or too little. The test is theoretical, very simple—give thyroid extract if there is too little secretion and reduce the thyroid activity by X-ray or surgery if there is too much. But in practical experience it is more complicated and the management of any kind of thyroid disorder requires the utmost in judgment, patience, resource and tact on the part of a physician. But that's why you go to a family physician, isn't it? Not because he is an encyclopedia, but because he has resource, judgment, patience, sympathy and tact.

The menopause or, in common parlance, the change of life would also appear to the superficial and inexperienced as easy to diagnose and to treat. After all, through the human race who live long enough to have experienced it—at least half—I have known some raging male changes of life. But in practice again it is not always so simple for women the worst period is before it happens—the dread, the horror stories that kind neighbors are always telling. And here the medical profession can give you a few words of comfort.

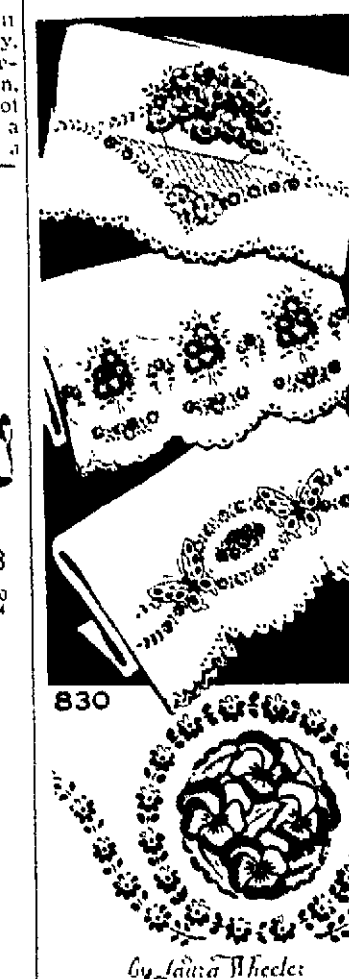

First, the worst things in life do not happen sixty-five to 65 per cent of women. Symptoms sufficiently severe to interfere either with their normal mode of life or even their equality.

Second, the ovaries continue to secrete long after the visible effects of the menopause are over. The dread of losing her essential femininity which is what bothers most women on approaching the period of the menopause is fanciful.

Answers: L. M. F.—My daughter, aged 18, underwent various health tests, including a tuberculin test which came out "slightly positive." Is that bad?

Answer: It probably means little by itself at the age of 18. At younger ages it would mean more. But it calls for a follow-up X-ray examination.
